TALKING OF BUILDING.

Important Projects which have not yet Crystallized into Facts.

SOME MORE OPERA HOUSE RUMORS

And an Explanation of them—There may be Another big Granite Block on Main Street next Season—Minor Improvements about the City.

The report that Wheeling is to have a new fine large opera house, up to date, on the site of the present one, seems a veritable Bauboo's ghost. As soon as it is downed it starts up in a new place. Yesterday many people made up their minds that the new theatre was a sure enough go, and that it would be built soon. The reason of this pleasant impression was that Architect Liner, several members of the board of directors of the German Insurance Company and a well known contractor, were seen with a tape line industrially measuring the size of the company's real estate, which extends on Fourteenth street from the INTELLIGENCER alley to the Reilly block, and on Market from the Reilly block to the Hess building. This was enough to give the report new weight, and a reporter who had not asked Manager Klester a question on the subject for a week was sent to find out what the measuring meant. Mr. Klester said the company had not decided to build a new theatre nor anything else, nor had it decided not to build. There has been talk of building an opera house, and also of abandoning the theatre business and erecting a fine office block. The committee of the directors to whom the question of a new building was some time ago referred, desired for its information some idea of what sort of a block and what sort of a theatre could be put on its ground, and what each would probably cost. For this purpose Mr. Liner was engaged to make suggestions and approximate estimates, and this was all that had been done.

"Did your company ever receive a proposition from a life insurance company or anybody else who wanted to purchase the Reilly block also and build a big block, including a theatre?"

"No, sir," said he, "I never heard of that till somebody told me it was in a newspaper. I do not think there was ever any foundation for the report."

Mr. Klester was told of the talk of a new opera house to be built with outside capital, a project which according to the talk of the initiated is only kept from fruition by the belief that if anybody else began to build a theatre the German Insurance company would also rebuild, and knock the other house out. He said he did not think any person who wanted to invest in a theatre need hesitate on that account, for if another theatre were built he felt confident the present one would be abandoned, and a business block built, with perhaps a large hall for public meetings and great social events over it. Such a hall is badly needed in Wheeling, and the company has often discussed the idea. If anybody with the price wants to buy the company's property, Mr. Klester added, it could be purchased very quickly.

It is a fact that men with money have long had their eyes on Wheeling as a good town to build a theatre in but for the fact that there are already two here. Mr. Klester's assurance might have the effect of again directing the attention of these gentlemen to this project.

A PREMATURE REPORT

Of Another big Granite Building on Main Street, which may yet be True.

A report reaching the INTELLIGENCER yesterday, coming simultaneously from two sources, that Stone & Thomas had made up their minds after mature consideration to erect on the site of their present store rooms on Main street and the similar-sized store adjoining on the north a fine large granite block, somewhat after the style of the new City Bank. The completion of the new bridge to the Ohio and the street car track to the Ohio side has placed this firm's location in an enviable relation to the trade of a large and prosperous community, and a fine building there would make a metamorphosis in that part of town. An INTELLIGENCER reporter called at the store yesterday afternoon and asked Mr. Thomas what truth there was in the story.

"Just this," said he, "I individually purchased the ground north of this store, as I individually own this property. I asked a contractor to measure the ground and give me some idea of the probable cost of a granite building would be. He measured the lots to-day, and I suppose that started the talk. It would be too late to do anything this season, anyhow, besides part of the other property is tied up by a lease which does not expire until April 1 next. I have not decided to build, but have just begun to think about it."

It will not be surprising if next season sees a magnificent modern business block erected on Mr. Thomas's valuable lots.

THE NEW CAR SHEDS

Of the Wheeling & Elm Grove Railroad Company at Elm Grove Nearly Done.

People who have not recently been out to the eastern terminus of the Wheeling & Elm Grove railroad do not appreciate the good character of the improvements the company has made at Elm Grove this season. The new car shed is completed, except for the windows and the inside work, and the round house is also well along. The car shed is of bright galvanized iron, and makes a pleasing appearance. It is longer than the company's shed on Sixteenth street, but not so wide. The engine house is a substantial brick structure, and both of the buildings have slate roofs. The engine house is forty feet long and sixteen feet wide, and the two add very much to the appearance of things at the end of the track.

The Elm Grove company is by degrees getting its property in a shape which would do credit to any of the large railroads, and ere long will have as complete and substantial a road as any of its length in the country.

Delay in the Jail Work.

The work on the new county jail, which has been progressing rapidly for a few days, will have to stop again today on account of the failure of some of the iron work to arrive. The bricklayers have been pushing the walls right up, laying about twenty thousand brick a day. The trouble in obtaining the iron has already caused serious delay, and it is not probable now that the structure can be under roof by the time bad weather sets in. It will take probably four weeks longer to get the iron for the roof.
